

Center Nick Leckey

November 5, 2008

(On how important his technique will be going against DT Chris Jenkins)

"It is paramount for me just to be able to get the job done because he is playing well. He is getting off the ball. He is penetrating, he is slanting and angling and stuff like that. He is doing some great things for sure."

(On if he will be able to use a low center of gravity to his advantage)

"I think it is important to get those first two steps into the ground and if you are lower than him, you do have a better chance of blocking him."

(On how the change at running back will affect the way the offensive line blocks)

"It really does not change much for us at all. We still have to assignment-sound. We still have to play with great fundamentals and we have to be able to get our job done without any mistakes. It really doesn't change us, if anything it makes you study a little more film and stuff like that."
